LEMMON HIGH SCHOOL

As we, the seniors of Lemmon High School, continue down the road of life, we leave behind this book of memories. Among all these pleasant memories are those we have of you.

Because of your cheerful guidance and consideration, you have made our days in high school ones we shall never forget. In deep appreciation for all you've done Mr. Boint, we dedicate to you, this book.

CLASS WILL

Vernon Bergenheir wills his National Guard suit to Eugene Lyon. Keep it clean Eugene.

Francis Biel wills his red convertible to Willard Witte. You know what to do with it Willard.

Bruce Boorman wills his gift of gab to Arlen Ottman and Allen Johnson. Don't get carried away boys.

Russell Bywater wills his Civics notes to Bob Schiley. They got Russell through, Bob, they should get you through.

Gale Cazer wills his curly hair to Larry Becker. That comes complete with a Toni refill Larry.

Beverly Christman wills her job at the Co-op store to Sharon Monson. No sales talk Sharon, you just check out groceries.

Dorothy Cook wills her persuasive ways to Rollie Bunn. This combined with what you have, you'll never have to ask twice.

Leona Davis wills her even temper to LaVine Weil and Aldene Molitor. Now you can make a hit with the teachers, girls.

Ila Davis wills her enlistment papers to Patty Smebakken. It could be fun, Patty.

Durwood Davison wills his giggle to Verna Lemke and Lloyd Lorenz. You know when to use it, don't you?

Jean Dayton wills her rosy cheeks to Bernard Kling. These don't wear off Bernard. No matter what you're up against.

Donna Dutton wills her ability to draw horses to Clarice German and Katy Hoff. Those are free hand girls.

Monte Gano wills his muscles to Donnie Benson. He doesn't use them to fight, Donnie!

Beverly Goeres wills her drivers education grades to Lila Glass. It is all in knowing how, Lila!

Lee Goeres wills his photographic ability to Julie Kanis. Don't waste film Julie, and snap interesting pictures.

Jim Gossmann wills his height to Alvin Seidal. Now you can play basketball, Alvin.

Bill Grout wills his motto to Deloris Wicks and Florence Umback. By the way, girls, his motto is "Work, work, work; learn, learn, learn!"

Ila Grout wills her lovely contralto voice to Larry Jackson. Perhaps you too will make it to Minneapolis, Larry.

Marilyn Ham wills her long blonde hair to Francis Hulm. Now you can wear it in any style you like.

Louise Ham wills her twirling ability to Wally Bertrand. Don't let it slip through your fingers, Wally.

Jens Hansen wills his habit of losing his class ring to Viola Schaff. Keep it in sight at all times, Viola.

Bob Hartinger wills his alarm clock to Ronnie Christman, and Sid Colville. Now that you have it, don't forget to use it.

Gay Hatle wills a free trip to Bison to Paul Hansen. It's not every day you get a free trip, Paul.

Alice Hauge wills her glasses to Dick and Bob Schmidt. Be sure and share them equally, boys.

Alaine Heinitz wills her ability to get through school in three years to Jim Baumeister. All it takes is a little ambition.

Verna Johnson wills her rides to school to Ruth Gabbert and Anna Zent. You better draw straws to see who sits in the middle, girls.

Loran Jorgensen wills his side burns to Jack Roggenkemp. That comes complete with a bottle of Vigero, Jack.

Mary Ann Kent wills her nicknames to Hazel Hillestad. Now you won't know which name to answer to, Hazel.

La Vern Krischen wills her ability to get what she goes after to Margie Johnson and Laska Lyon. This does have advantages, girls.

Joanne Lanz wills her hair style with all the curls in back to Peggy Cazer. To wear this style, Peggy, the hair is long.

Marlene Longwood wills her ability to make leather purses to Eugene Braun. You will have an awful time to keep the girls away, now.

Eugene Lovell wills his dancing ability to Robert Jones. Go easy on the fox trots, Bob.

Bertha Maier wills her sparkling eyes to Ronald Svihovec. These will be convenient on a dark night, Ronnie.

Colette Manning leaves her petite figure to Rose Voltz. Now you will really wow 'em!

Allen Molitor wills his turtleneck sweaters to Zada Puhlman. There's one for every day of the week, Zada.

Verna Penfield wills her job as librarian to Kenny La Bau. Just think of the books you can read without a fine!

Joyce Petik wills her cute dimples to Frank Wysk. You should be proud --not everyone can have them.

Claudette Ploog wills her interest in the Marines to Dorothy and Doris Heintz. Try settling it peacefully, girls.

Loran Reiger wills his fondness of journalism to Bonnie Anderson. You just have to grin and bear it, Bonnie.

Ronnie Roland wills his corney jokes to Delores Gilbertson. Ronnie always gets a laugh, Delores you should.

Ralph Roso wills his bass horn to Boyd Veal and Lola Smith. Together you should be able to carry and play it.

Lola Saunders wills her talkativeness to Dean LaDue. With this plus your own gift of gab, you'll have to remember to stop for a breath occasionally.

Dorothy Schiley wills her way of getting along with people to Dean Veal. It's easy Dean, all you have to do is follow the Golden Rule.

Marlene Scoular wills a pair of yellow fenders skirts to Charles Clark. These will really dress up the Ford, Charles.

Wally Sherwood wills his crew cuts to Doug Willet. They aren't as attractive as your curls, Doug, but they're easier to take care of.

Shirley Skjoldal wills her nice ways to Deloris Friez. Now you will really be tops, Dee.

Dan Syverson wills his motorcycle to Beverly Lindquist. Fresh air is always healthy, Bev.

Darrel Veal wills his skill in playing football to Joanne Maier and Joyce

Brought. Careful who you tackle girls.

Donald Wacker wills his sense of humor to Del May. Remember, Del, his jokes are original.

Mildred Waldecker wills her ability to drive to Marcene Helland. Don't forget to stop, look and listen, Marcene.

Pat Wenzel wills her pretty clothes to Joyce Kanis. You may have to build another closet to hold them all, though.

Don Werly wills his snare drum to Marilyn Christman. Remember Marilyn that even the loudest noise can be pretty.
